There are two features to the app, A and B. A and B both require the same service, C. C is used as a sort of global service, i.e. the code that I wrote can be used by both features. I am wondering if there is a way to have A and B dependent on C but still be able to call the C service as a singleton? Here are my thoughts: Option 1: In my API, use [RoutePrefix("api/a")] on both A and B 2d92ce491b
