Category:Hindu texts Category:Sanskrit texts Q: Is it possible to use Dividend and Divisor for negative values? I am wondering if it is possible to use dividend and divisor to perform a division operation on a negative value? It looks like DIVIDE does the same as DIVIDE however i would like to take this further. For example, var dividend = -2; var divisor = 3; var quotient = dividend / divisor; This would give 0 and I would like it to give 0/3 which is 0. If I use DIVIDE it will give 0/-0 and I want it to be 0/3. A: You are using base 10 (decimal) math. In base 2, -1 is -1. Q: Lookup objects sharing the same url by url location path I have a directory of generated web pages in a site that are formatted like: Here is my free image description I am like an image. What I need is to be able to grab each of these objects if they share the same url. I would have liked to just do a for statement that iterated through all the href attributes on each div class="collection" and
