“Video game developers have been trying to solve this problem for years,” says Craig Dunn, Vice President of Marketing and Business Development at EA Sports. “In FIFA 22, we’re delivering the most realistic, most lifelike gameplay experience to football fans. With the FIFA Interactive World Cup tournament and our partnership with the Premier League, ‘Shot Intelligence’, football is taken to a whole new level.” For a gameplay trailer and more information, visit: FIFA Interactive World Cup (FIFASWC) will give you the chance to experience a real-life simulation of how the real football stars play. Based on recent Premier League results, teams from around the world battle it out to win FIFASWC. Your task is to decide who will win the tournament by taking part in the match, set to be contested at Emirates Stadium in London. As a reward for your efforts, you will be invited to join a team of five players and take on the role of a goalkeeper in the FIFA Interactive World Cup Finale. Using the same physical and virtual intelligence as the top football stars, you will play the final match as your chosen team in real time. Uplay In addition to FIFASWC, Uplay rewards will include the “FIFA Ultimate Team Champions Club,” which offers members guaranteed access to collectable players, players packs and player boosts in FIFA 22. Uplay is a free service that delivers an immersive and entertaining gaming experience featuring countless ways to earn and spend in-game currency, enjoy exclusive benefits and features while saving up to 30% on the retail price of FIFA Ultimate Team Leagues. Fans can learn more at: www.FIFA.com/Uplay. Available to Xbox One and PS4 on May 2 in all territories where FIFA is available, FIFA 22 will also be coming to Xbox 360 and PlayStation 3.
