FIFA 22 introduces “HyperMotion Technology” (HMT), which captures player movement on an unprecedented scale, placing every player and ball in-game with unparalleled accuracy. To ensure a level playing field, HMT will be used for all gameplay modes in the game, including Online Seasons, Create-a-Club, Ultimate Team, and The Journey. In-Game Animations, Player Movement & Visual Impact: HMT player motion & movement is captured with multiple cameras using motion capture suits. Replicating the player’s real-life movements, every player and ball in-game is animated with stunning accuracy, while the ball is tracked and animated with precise timing and context. HMT player animations and player movement are then reflected in in-game animations. Through the use of HMT, we have been able to create hyper-realistic ball paths and player movement animations (such as step overs, ground-strokes, and through balls). The combination of player movement on the pitch and the in-game player animations creates a more fluid player movement and ball path. Finally, the introduction of HMT has also been used to create enhanced player visual effects on the pitch. The introduction of HMT has enabled FIFA to create full animations for the free kicks, corner-kicks, and penalty-kicks, and “dribble” animations on players. Skill Shots & Save Replays: On player goalkeepers, FIFA 22 introduces an advanced Artificial Intelligence system that combines the player’s control, movement, body shape, and positioning with environmental conditions. On shots on goal, players will now be able to save shots with new confidence and accuracy. If the shot is saved, a realistic save replay will occur. Similarly, if the goalkeeper saves a shot on goal, an accurate save replay will occur. Save replays will be automatic and allow players to instantly review where their attempts were blocked or saved. With the introduction of HMT, FIFA 22 allows goalkeepers to capture save replays while playing matches in HMT, increasing goalkeepers’ and players’ awareness of save replays. Scoring: FIFA 21 introduced a number of innovations to the soccer penalty kick system, including a new dribble animation to help players start their run-up, create-a-player enhancements, and goal animations to help players better see and understand their chances on goal

What's new in Fifa 22:

- Tackle decision-making has been enhanced with new AI that reacts and adapts to real-life situations, offering more options for future skilled play. For example, when receiving a through ball, a player is able to choose whether to use his/her momentum to shoot from distance; turn in a more dangerous direction; be more static and create a situation where he/she can make a better option.
- FIFA Ultimate Team is also available through Xbox Game Pass.
- Smoothed touch controls, ball physics and visual improvements increase the player experience throughout the game.
- New Game Vision* is a new camera system that interprets the rules of the game in a view that is more natural and less repetitive.
- HyperMotion Technology is also available for In-Game Ad-Hoc together with game offers.
- A new worldwide visualisation of the MatchDay details on the Spotlight screen, with information on all 22 players and the referee, plus individual attributes and contracts.
- Off-ball movements for all 11 players in the Tactical Free-Kick area, with different control animations depending on the distances from the ball.
- FIFA 22 introduces an updated right analogue stick system with a new wrapping system that allows faster, more natural turning.
- ‘Tackling Parade’ is a new Exhale concept built into the right Stick, which offers players more control. When controlling your defensive style, it allows you to slow down and ‘parade’ the ball in front of players to confuse them.
- The new Defending Midfielder concept allows for more options to break down deep defences. Players can have more options and more variety in their tactical approach to the game without forcing them to adapt the rest of their team.
- Quick Likes feedback is now integrated into the mouse and triggers, so you don't have to be within the game and pause to like a goal.
