Me and my girlfriend have decided to use one of our hard drives to share some of our musical favourites as well as download mp3s and manage some of our playlists. Has anyone got any recommendations of a good music downloader/MP3 converter for Windows. I also need a DAW since i have to do some ambient music and want to start recording some things with my sonik synth. The stuff you're looking for is the Microsoft tool included with Windows. You can download it from Microsoft's web site. You can also download an updated version for Win7 from Sony's web site. You can also use TunesKit's Spotify Music Converter for Windows for free. decreased visual acuity, and a right optic disc pallor. Neurologic examination showed no abnormality. Visual evoked potentials (VEPs) with a flash stimulus were recorded bilaterally with electrodes over the occipital cortex. The mean VEP latency was 140 milliseconds (ms) for the patient and 120 ms for the right normal eye, and the mean amplitude was 1.73 microV (microV) for the patient and 2.94 microV for the normal eye. When the right eye had optic nerve pallor, the mean VEP latency was 181 ms and the mean amplitude was 1.38 microV. One-hundred VEP recordings were made over a period of 16 months. Mean values for latency and amplitude were within the normal range in both eyes. In the presence of optic nerve dysfunction, the amplitude is reduced and the latency prolonged. Latencies and amplitudes were within the normal range in most of the latencies and amplitudes recorded, indicating that the optic nerves were in functional and structural integrity.Q: How to split a string using only the first character? def my_func(str1): s = str1 return s[0] print(my_func("blahblah")) > blahblah Is there any simple way to do this?
